

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

JEREMY WILLIAMS,

Plaintiff

v.

CLARK COUNTY DETENTION CENTER,
 et. al.,

Defendants

Case No. 2:20-cv-00869-JAD-VCF

Order Dismissing and Closing Case

Plaintiff Jeremy Williams brings this civil-rights lawsuit to redress constitutional violations that he claims he suffered while in the custody of the Clark County Detention Center. On June 16, 2020, this Court denied plaintiff's application to proceed in forma pauperis for prisoners and ordered the plaintiff to either pay the $400 filing fee or file a complete in forma pauperis application for non-prisoners by July 16, 2020.¹ That deadline expired without a new application or payment of the filing fee.

District courts have the inherent power to control their dockets and "[i]n the exercise of that power, they may impose sanctions including, where appropriate . . . dismissal" of a case.² A court may dismiss an action based on a party's failure to prosecute an action, failure to obey a court order, or failure to comply with local rules.³ In determining whether to dismiss an action

on one of these grounds, the court must consider: (1) the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic alternatives.⁴

The first two factors, the public’s interest in expeditiously resolving this litigation and the court’s interest in managing its docket, weigh in favor of dismissal of the plaintiff’s claims. The third factor, risk of prejudice to defendants, also weighs in favor of dismissal because a presumption of injury arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in filing a pleading ordered by the court or prosecuting an action.⁵ A court’s warning to a party that its failure to obey the court’s order will result in dismissal satisfies the fifth factor’s “consideration of alternatives” requirement,⁶ and that warning was given here.⁷ The fourth factor—the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits—is greatly outweighed by the factors favoring dismissal.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that THIS ACTION IS DISMISSED without prejudice based on the plaintiff’s failure to file a complete application to proceed in forma pauperis for non-prisoners or pay the filing fee as ordered. The Clerk of Court is directed to ENTER JUDGMENT accordingly and CLOSE THIS CASE. No other documents may be filed in this now-closed case. If Williams wishes to pursue his claims, he must file a complaint in a new
